New Services offered by the Library

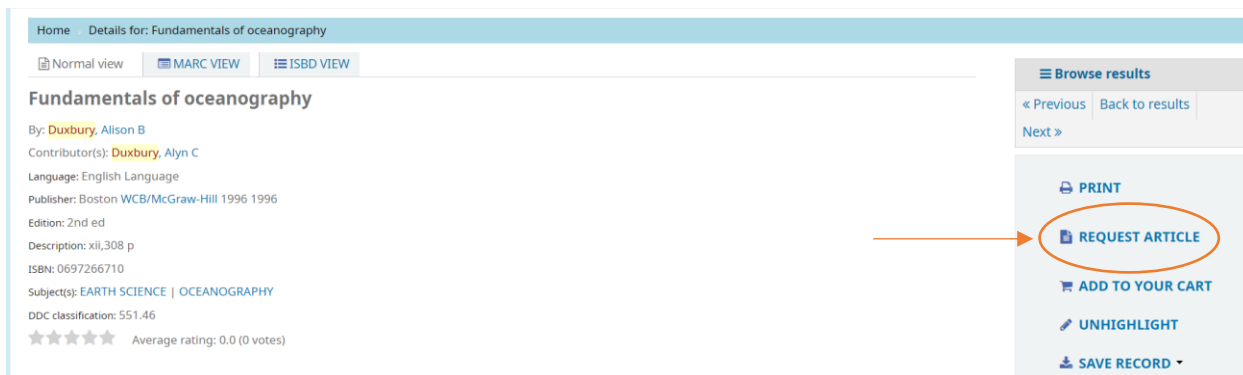

1. Document Supply Service

Consortium of Sri Lankan Academic Libraries (CONSAL) has now established a Centralized Document Supply Service through British Library Document Supply Service, with funding from the UGC, Sri Lanka. This service is coordinated by the Library, University of Colombo with the objective of catering to students, academic and non-academic staff of the fifteen state universities functioning under UGC. You can obtain most of fee-based scholarly materials from the British Library. For more information, please click on the “Digital Document Supply Service” link: <https://opac.lib.ruh.ac.lk/>

2. Digital Document Delivery service

This service was launched as supplementary services to continue the information services requirements during the lockdown period. Library users can request a certain number of textbook pages from the library and these selected pages will be scanned from the original book and email to the users back.

You can search the needed textbook from the OPAC (<https://opac.lib.ruh.ac.lk/>) and click on the “request article” link. After login to your library account, you can request the page range you want to be digitised.

3. Off-campus access to paid journals

All the universities in country receive the journal database subscription through the CONSAL. Those were limited to access and download only through the university network while you are in the university premises. Now you can access to the paid scholarly journals from location (any network) to download the required scholarly information. This service provided with through a single sign-on system (shibboleth).

You have to login to the library website: www.lib.ruh.ac.lk and chose the journal database you want to access. If you're in the university network, you can proceed through the usual pathway, and the through the “off-campus access” link while you're in a private network. For the off-campus access, you can use your ZOOM login credentials to login to the journal databases that the library subscribed.
